Weekly Pro Football Pickem

About The Game:

This game is a pro pickem challenge that begins in early September and runs through week 17 of the NFL season. This is a 5 month promotion since the game will be delivered in August to each media partner. Our game lets participants predict the weekly winners among every matchup each week of the NFL season.

How It Works:

Every week, your audience logs online through your website to select the winners for each NFL football game. Dell Sports keeps track of their record and creates the standings. If your media outlet would like some unique features that offer greater challenges, we have that too! Participants compete amongst their friends and others throughout the entire season for great local prizes (local prizes provided by media outlet). Dell Sports displays both the weekly and season winners. Your media outlet promotes the game and Dell Sports does all the rest!

Unique Features (subject to change):
